E Ho'oulu Aloha

New to the Museum Shop, the first biography ever written on Edward Bailey! Entitled, Edward Bailey of Maui: Teacher & Naturalist, Artist & Engineer, it is written by Linda McCullough Decker, Maui author and former Maui Historical Society trustee. Drawing heavily on letters and journals of the Baileys and their circle, Decker presents Edward and Caroline largely in their own words and those of their friends and neighbors. Detailed and vivid, Bailey's words draw us into the world he helped shape, and share his hopes and his misgivings about those changes.

Hardcover with Bailey's paintings illustrated in full color. $34.95

Remember all the wonderful quilts blowing in the breeze last spring at Bailey House? Last year's quilt show was so much fun, we decided to do it again! The second annual quilt show and exhibit will be on Saturday May 14, 2011 Local quilters from across Maui will hang their quilts throughout the gardens and demonstrate quilting methods to visitors. Antique quilts from the Maui Historical Society and private collections will be exhibited in the Bailey House Museum. Admission to the Quilt Show includes admission to the museum and is $10 for adults. Children 12 and under are free.

'Ōhi'a 'ai blooming in the Bailey House garden

Aloha!

We are very excited for upcoming events at the Bailey House Museum. On May 14th we have the beautiful "A Celebration of Quilts" Quilt Show and Exhibit. See the gardens come alive with color, talk to the quilters and view the antique Hawaiian quilts in the museum.

On June 10th we have a special fundraiser for Maui Historical Society organized by kapa artist Wesley Sen. In 1987, Wesley Sen, Hōkūlani Holt and Pua Van Dorpe held kapa-making workshops and an exhibit at the Bailey House Museum. Kumu Wes was one of the first artists to revive the art of kapa making. He is putting together a program along with Kumu Hōkūlani Holt entitled "Hina & Maui: The Story of Hawaiian Tapa Making." Come support the Maui Historical Society while enjoying an original performance with costumes in traditional kapa. Kumu Wes will also be holding kapa-decoration workshops at Bailey House on June 10th and 11th. These treasured cultural practitioners are donating their time and talents and all proceeds from the event will benefit the Maui Historical Society. For more information, please see the insert in this newsletter or call us at 244-3326.

If it has been awhile since your last visit to Bailey House Museum, please stop by and say hello! The gardens are so beautiful since the restoration last summer. Come and feel the peace of the garden while learning about native plants. The accessibility of collections in the archives has greatly improved with the new Past Perfect museum database. We want to thank the volunteers who are helping with archival cataloging. We have also updated the archives page on the Maui Historical Society website to better assist researchers. Go to www.mauimuseum.org to check out the new and improved website.

Looking forward to seeing you soon at Bailey House!

Mahalo Nui Loa, Nicole McMullen, Executive Director

Focus on Historic Preservation

The Olowalu Cultural Reserve is located on 74 acres of land in Olowalu Valley. Current ongoing projects include:

- 1) Adopt-A-Lo'i Program - Open to all community clubs, organizations and families. Build, plant and maintain your own lo'i kalo. At harvest time, the poi shop is available for you to make poi for your ohana.
- 2) Kanu Project - Clearing the land of non-native plants and planting crops for sustainable living emulating the ahupua'a concept of Old Hawaii.
- 3) Native Hawaiian Plant Restoration - Over the past 2 years over 600 native Hawaiian plants in 65 different varieties have been planted.
- 4) Olowalu Trail Restoration - OCR volunteers continue ongoing trail maintenance of the Olowalu Trail connecting West Maui to Central Maui which was heavily used in ancient times.
- 5) Preservation and Management of Cultural and Archaeological sites within the Reserve

Future goals....Build an Educational/Cultural Activities Hale, a Native Hawaiian Charter School, and a Canoe Hale

Volunteer Community Work Day occurs every 3rd Saturday of the month from 7:00am to 11:00am. They meet at the pali end of the Olowalu General Store. For more information contact Nani Santos, Project Assistant, Olowalu Cultural Reserve, (808) 633-0378, lihaulowalu@live.com

Volunteer Luncheon March 2011
Mahalo to our wonderful volunteers!!

In February, the Maui Historical Society received a beautiful donation of a rare Hawaiian kapa from Paul and Amy Niess of Chico, California. The kapa was authenticated by Pua Van Dorpe as being over 200 years old. A portion of it is pictured on the left with former Maui Historical Society Executive Director Roz Lightfoot who coordinated the donation. Accompanying the donation to Maui were members of Mr. Niess' family pictured above.

We happily accept donations to our document, artifact and photo collections. Please call Nicole McMullen at 244-3326 for more information.
